Current selection & performance — actual weights

Key dates: strategy inclusion May '26 (first selection, from Q1-2026 data) · latest quarterly review as of Sep 17, 2026 21:52 · each company's performance is measured from its own inclusion date · the equal-amount current cycle runs from the May-2026 window.

Total return	BARAKA Invest selection	Nikkei 225
Selections since their own entry dates*	+11.4%	-8.5%
Live selection — model (May '26 → date, USD)	+3.4%	-6.5%

*Benchmark figures on the since-selection row are measured over the same spans as the selections — each index leg runs from that name's own entry date, blended by model weight. The live-selection row shows the model selection, marked to market (USD-normalized) since it opened.

Each selected company contributes to the selection line from its own entry date and is modeled as cash before entry; index lines span the full period.

Performance Summary: Industrials Sector

	BARAKA Invest selection	Nikkei 225
Track record (compounded, to date) 8 completed cycles + current cycle · ≈ +1% annualized	+3.4%	+15.7%

The BARAKA Invest strategy compounds the algorithm's quarterly sector-wide selections across the 8 completed cycles plus the current cycle, measured to the latest price — versus the Nikkei 225 index over the same span.

Selection record — 8 completed cycles + current (equal amounts)

This record gives every selected company an equal amount of money, so it measures which companies we choose; the 'since inclusion' figures above use actual model weights and show what the model portfolio earned. The difference between the two views reflects the contribution of model weighting. Each quarter the algorithm re-selects the best-managed names across the sector's industries; the chart compounds those quarterly recommendations to the latest price versus the benchmarks. ADR-listed selections follow an annual filing cycle and enter the track record at the current cycle.

General Notes

Performance reflects total return including dividends. “Since selection” is measured from each company's own selection date (marked on its chart); strategy inception was February 2026 and the latest quarterly review was May 2026. Where the algorithm selects no qualifying name in a given quarter, that quarter is modeled as cash (flat). “Weight” is the company's model weight as a percentage of the total diversified model portfolio, assigned by BARAKA Invest's systematic allocation methodology (specific weighting mechanics and parameters are proprietary). The track record compounds the quarterly selection returns across the 8 completed cycles and the current cycle.

Backtested & past performance

Performance shown for periods prior to February 2026 is hypothetical and backtested. It reflects the application of the current investment methodology to historical market data and does not represent actual trading or client accounts. Backtested results are prepared with the benefit of hindsight and have inherent limitations. They do not reflect the impact of actual investment decision-making, market liquidity, transaction costs, taxes, slippage, or investor behavior, except where expressly stated. Actual investment results may differ materially. Performance from February 2026 onward reflects live model (paper) tracking of the published selections under the BARAKA Invest methodology. Unless otherwise indicated, model portfolios are rebalanced quarterly; track-record cycles are presented on an equal-weighted basis, and current-selection figures use actual model weights, as labelled in each section. Returns include reinvested dividends where total-return data is available — all United States figures and international track-record cycles; live-selection (model) returns for international markets and pooled GCC figures are price-based and do not include dividends. All returns exclude taxes, advisory fees, and investor-specific transaction costs unless otherwise stated. Past performance, whether actual or simulated, is not a reliable indicator of future results. Losses, including loss of principal, are possible.
